

Ray LC
Alejandro Baez

Aaliyah Alcibar
Stefanie Torossian

After spending decades tediously identifying shoplifters at a Whole Foods supermarket in Redmond, WA, this security camera has been refitted with Computer Vision and a database of faces, giving it new purpose in life: to showing people how machines see. Machine Gaze is an interactive experience that invites audiences to step inside the machine to explore how Computer Vision recognizes, displays faces.

Special thanks to: Michael Cosaboom, Jeffrey Geiringer, Nolan Quinn, Karl Szilagi, Mannix Chu, Sean Walsh, Elizabeth Slagus, Erin Thelen, Philipp Schmitt. A part of DiR program 2019.