

THE BEAT

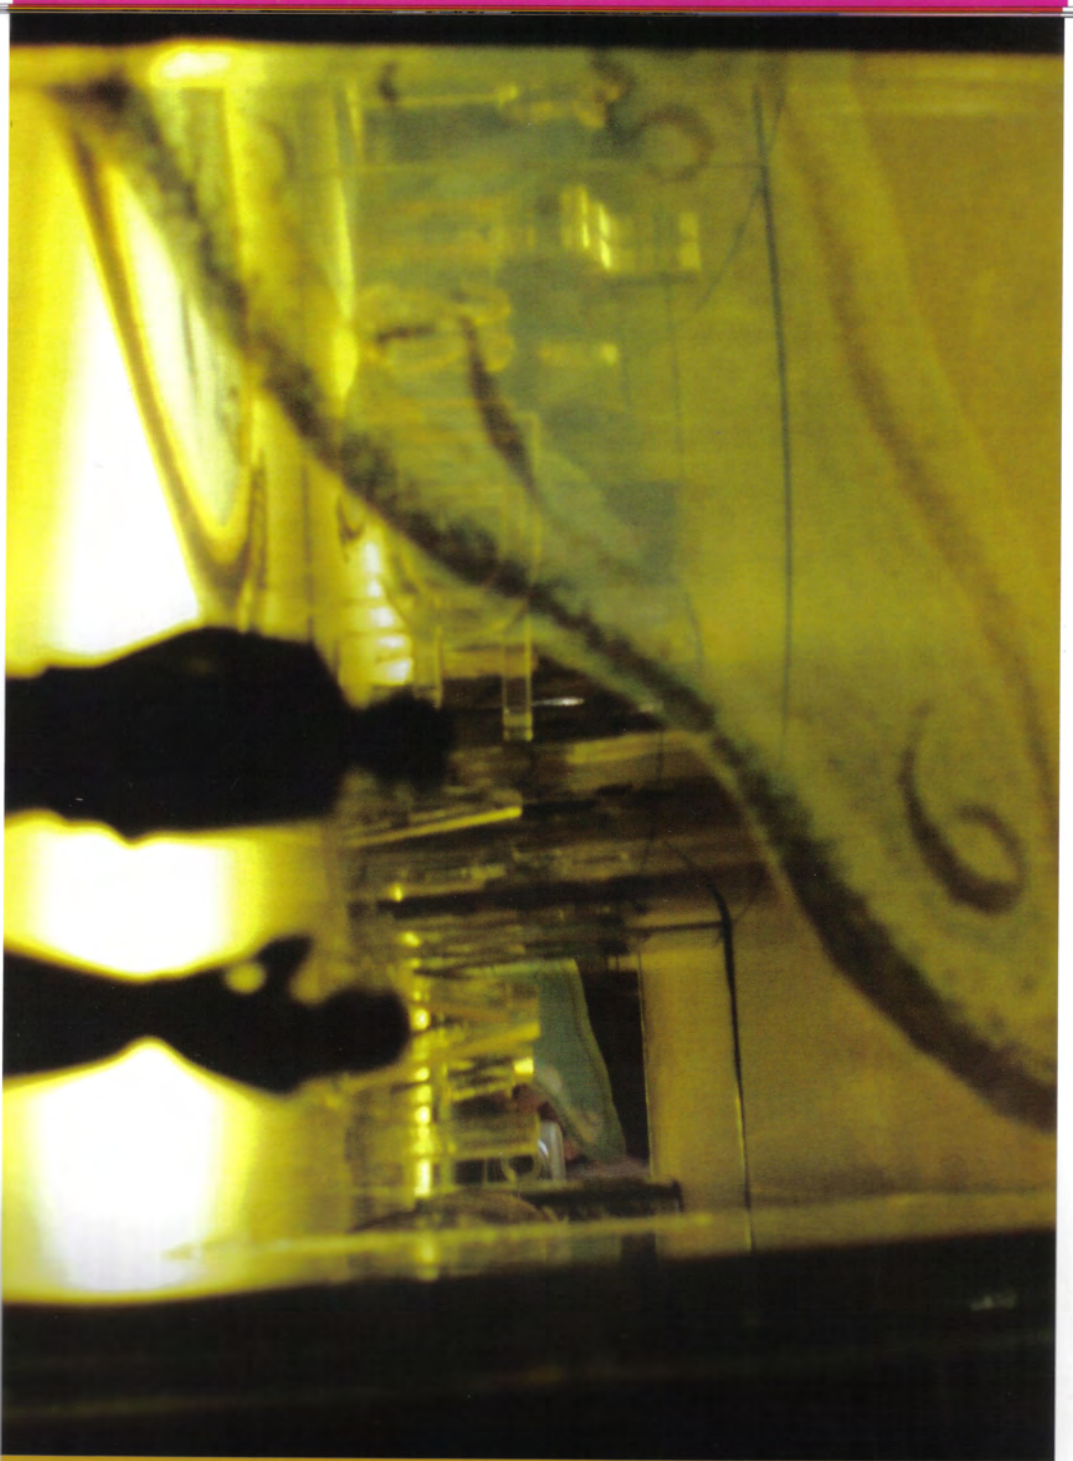

TENTH ANNIVERSARY

VOLUME X SPRING 2008

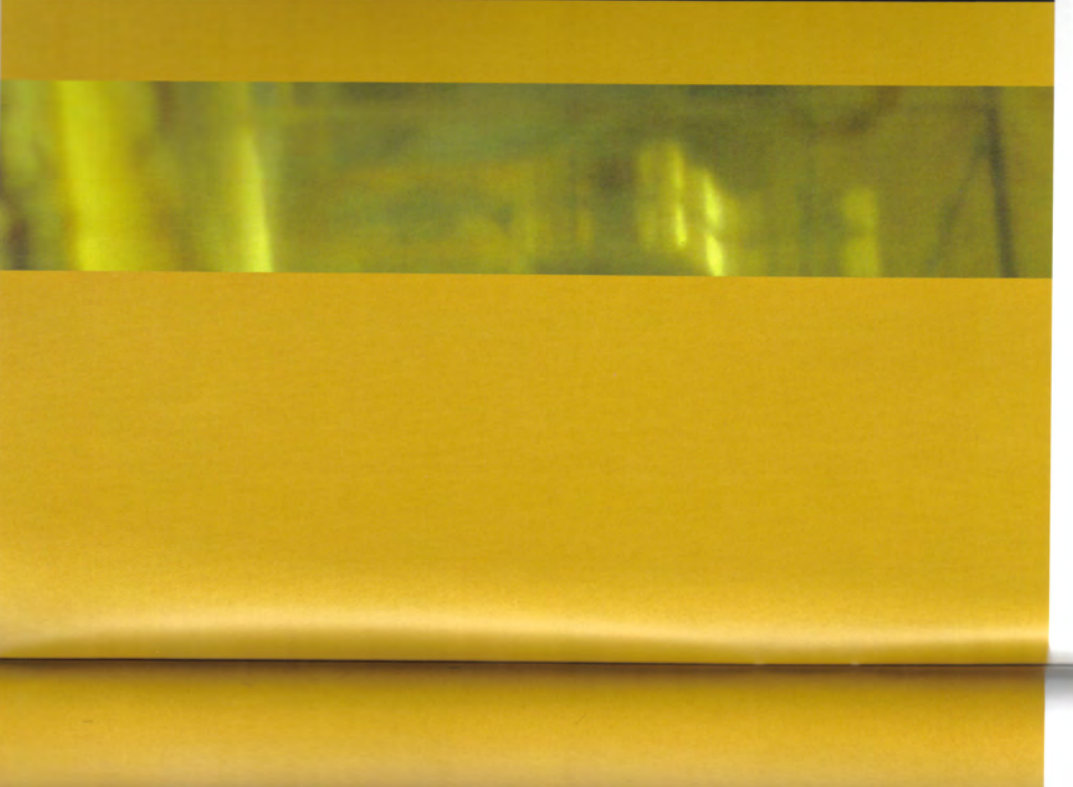

DAVID GEEFFEN SCHOOL OF MEDICINE AT UCLA
JOURNAL OF ART & LITERATURE

1. Editor's Note
2. The BEAT Staff
3. Vital Signs Prize
4. Table of Contents
5. Paula Walker (Stoessel)	Rumble
6. Andrew Behenlian	Portrait of Armenia
7. Barb Best	Hope
8. Caitlin Gomez	Sunset in San Sebastian
9. Paula Walker (Stoessel)	Electrocardiogram
10. Ray Luo	A Doll's House
11. Valerie Davis	My Brother's Bed
14. Erica Lubliner H.	Buena Suerte
15. Mayra Jimenez	La Virgen
16. Susie Fong	Reflection of "Balance"
17. Giovanni Passanante	Il Primo Giorno Del Nuovo Anno Nella Città Eterna
18. Christian De Virgilio	Reflections
19. Clint Lagbas	Poverty in Paradise
20. Mark D. Sugi	Excelsior
21. Lawrence "Hy" Doyle	Amsterdam Gilt
22. David E. Hayes-Bautista	The Vanishing Art of an Enduring Generation
24. Christian Avery Bryant	Nathan Sounds Like
25. Mary Lou Bui		I'm More
26. Michael C. Chen		Perspective
28. M. Berenice Nava		H'mong Woman
29. Hubert Shih		Remember Grañian, You Were Once One of Us!
31. Neil H. Parker		100 Bottles of Wine on the Wall
32. Erica Lubliner H.		Alejandra
34. John Hann		Ceramic Plates From the Markets of Peru
35. Andrew Behenlian		Hidden Monastery- The Armenian Countryside
36. Julianne Pollard		My First Time
39. John Colby		Alaskan Falls
40. Tiffany Lee		Dragonfly
41. Shail Vyas		Framing A Wonder
42. Doris Finck		Intelligence & Namesakes Needed
43. Erica Lubliner H.		Michael Jackson
44. Ramona Davoudpour		Chinatown, Looking Up
45. Art Gomez		Hope After the Storm
46. Melissa Gee		Maheno
47. Daniel Karlin		Correfoc
48. Caitlin Gomez		Como Si Fuera La Única
49. Armand Fulco		Heaven_Purgatory_ Hell

T A B L E O F C O N T E N T S

RAY LUO A DOLL'S HOUSE

RAY LUO

Ray has written fiction for the Mt. San Antonio writer's day magazine and UCLA Westwind literary magazine. He's a marathon runner and a fanatic of the brain, having previously done artificial intelligence research. Ray is a student in the neurobiology department in the lab of Tom Otis.

M. BERENICE NAVYA, MSII

Berenice grew up in Veracruz, Mexico and moved to Southern California at a young age. Her desire to start traveling began shortly after living abroad in Spain in 1998. Her passion for traveling has taken her to over 30 countries. This photo of a hill-tribe woman was taken in a H'mong community few miles from Sapa, Vietnam.

NEIL H. PARKER, MD

Dr. Parker has previously published underwater photos. When not with his head underwater, he likes to take photographs of his favorite drink. He believes looking through a lens at the world can give you different perspectives and help you see things you otherwise miss.

GIOVANNI PASSANANTE, MSIII

Incessant World Traveler

JULIANNE POLLARD

Julianne Pollard is a 6th year Biomedical Physics graduate student with research interests that include testing agents that have the potential to protect against low dose radiation damage, as well as characterizing medical radiation exposure risk for radiosensitive individuals. Dr. Richard Gatti is her advisor and her main career goal is to work in a radiation oncology department as a Medical Physicist. While Julie is not trying to save the world from radiation assault, she enjoys cooking and writing short stories and plays.

HUBERT SHIH, MSII

Hi. My name is Hubert. I am a second year medical student originally from the Bay Area. In my free time, I like to hang out with my friends Jeff and Ron.

MARK D. SUGI, MSI

Mark is a first year medical student with interests in surgical oncology, trauma surgery and endocrinology. Raised in southern California, he moved to the East Coast for college where he studied Italian literature and romance languages. He loves UCLA and is delighted to be back in Los Angeles.

SHAIL VYAS, MD

Dr. Vyas is the the eldest of three Bruin brothers, currently doing his residency in Orthopaedic Surgery at UCLA. His plans are to pursue a fellowship in Sports Orthopaedic Surgery after residency. His younger brother just graduated from UCLA School of Medicine and is doing a plastic surgery residency and his youngest brother is currently a second year UCLA medical student. He enjoys tennis, basketball, cooking, friends, and family.

PAULA WALKER (STOESSEL), PHID

Dr. Paula Walker (Stoessel) is Professor of Psychiatry at UCLA. She directs UCLA Mental Health Services for Physicians in Training and the Interpersonal Psychotherapy Clinic. Her clinical interests are bipolar disorder and depression. She is single and has two children.

